

Journal of Social and Family Policies

Founded in 1985, the Journal of Social and Family Policies [RPSF] (Research and Projections from 1985 to 2009, then Social and Family Policies until March 2015) is a quarterly peer-reviewed and multidisciplinary scientific journal. It publishes original research in the field of family and social affairs (public policies, benefits, service offerings, actors of these policies, targeted audiences, etc.), as well as developments affecting the family, childhood, youth, parenthood, poverty and housing. The journal welcomes articles in all areas of social sciences and humanities. Its multidisciplinary approach requires authors to use plain words and explain what does not come under common language (presentation of measures, theoretical concepts, specific survey methods, etc.).

The RPSF is developed based on special thematic issues or dossiers, or presented in the form of a collection of contributions (mixed issues). It is composed of different sections, all submitted to external review:

- "Scientific articles" (60,000 signs maximum, with spaces) are original contributions based on empirical subject matters;
- "Syntheses and perspectives" articles (30,000 signs) present problematised analysis of grey literature or research syntheses;
- "Studies" articles (30,000 signs), shorter than scientific articles, present the first outcomes of quantitative (including descriptive statistics) or qualitative (exploratory surveys, studies, research in progress) surveys by placing them in their field of research;
- "Methods" articles (30,000 signs) discuss data collection tools in the field covered by the RPSF (inputs and limits of these methods, discussion about indicators, etc.);
- "Reviews" are book (8,000 signs) or symposium (20,000 signs) reviews problematized in accordance with the journal's areas of interest. Reviewed book authors or symposium organisers cannot submit reviews.
